TENNESSEE NEWS.

—The Union City Herald of the 13th has this item: "Miss Jennie, daughter of A. H. Patton, was thrown from a horse on last Wednesday, narrowly escaping serious injuries. She was carried home insensible. At this time she is recovering."

—The Huntsville Vidette hoists the name of Hon. Baillie Peyton, for Governor, at the mast-head, this week, and says: "We have not had an opportunity to consult with any of our contemporaries on the subject, and we present Col. Peyton's name on our individual responsibility."

—A private letter from Maryville states that several enterprising dairymen from Ohio are now in Blount county seeking an eligible location for a cheese factory. A paragraph in the Asheville paper says that the Elk Mountain Cheese Factory, in North Carolina, is proving a perfect success, and paying large dividends.

—The Athens Post says in January last, we mentioned, on the authority of a correspondent, that a rich deposit of silver had been discovered near the North Carolina line, in the direction of the mountains. We are now advised that parties have been "going for it" for some weeks past, with rich and blooming prospects of success.

—We learn that the Rev. H. V. Brown is building at Chattanooga a large and commodious house, which is intended as a parochial residence, and as a home for the numerous priests who pass through that town. Truly, as says the Nashville Union and American, Father Brown is a public benefactor, and ought to receive liberal and substantial encouragement in his disinterested hospitality.

—The last number of the Brownsville Bee has this evidence of an enterprising spirit: We are pleased to chronicle the fact that active steps are being taken to build a large No. 1 cotton and woolen factory in our town. It is contemplated to raise and commence with a capital of $100,000; said sum to be raised by subscription, in shares of $100 each, to be paid in three installments during the year 1869.

—The scholastic population of Blount is estimated at 5295. The superintendent has supplied fifty-seven teachers with certificates. There are fifty schools in successful operation, of which five are used by the colored children. Teachers' institutes are to be organized in a few days in each of the grand divisions of the State. Dr. Sears, agent of the Peabody fund, will be in the State about that time, and will probably render some assistance in the matter.

—The Shelbyville Rescue says: We hear it hinted that the vote at Winchester and two or three precincts in Coffee and Lincoln counties, are to be thrown out in order to give Mr. Tillman a Radical majority over the chosen and gallant representative of the people of this Congressional District. And the Republican (Tillman's paper) of the same date (13th) says: If the polls be properly purged of votes illegally cast, there is no doubt but Col. Tillman is elected, even on the small vote thrown.

—The Greenville National Union of the 12th inst. says: "The case of the State against Emory Kiker, charged with the murder of Lewis Bird, in 1862, which was taken up last Thursday, was closed by the jury returning a verdict of "not guilty." This was the most important case tried in this county since the close of the war. The prisoner was a rebel soldier, a private in company H, Fifth Tennessee Cavalry. The deceased was an "enlisted" soldier in the Federal army, and was killed while making his way to the Federal lines.

—The Union and American of Sunday last says: Nothing new transpired yesterday in connection with whether we have a Chancellor or not. It now seems to be the settled opinion, however, of lawyers and other interested parties, that Judge Shackelford will re-open the closed term of the Chancery Court tomorrow, for the trial of causes which cannot very well be deferred until the April term. This done, it is not improbable that Judge Shackelford will accept the proffered position as one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of the State.

—The Bristol News of the 12th chronicles the suicide of two old ladies in Sullivan county. The first, widow Creswell, hung herself with a hank of thread. It appears the fondness for suicide was a family failing, as her sister committed suicide several years ago, in Smythe county, Va., and her brother cut his throat about twelve months ago. Mrs. Creswell was about seventy years of age. The second was a Mrs. Baum, who lived near Blountville. She hung herself with a rope. She was also seventy years of age. No cause is assigned for the act.

—The Knoxville Whig of the 12th inst. has the following: We hear of disease prevailing among hogs in the northeastern portion of this county and in Grainger county, to quite an extent. Hundreds of hogs have died, leaving many farmers who have heretofore had plenty, without a single one. Thousands of dollars are thus lost, and the destruction mentioned above, which is the same in many other localities, will, we fear, make pork scarce in this market.

The friends of Mr. Maynard intend to urge him upon Gen. Grant as a suitable man to go into his Cabinet. For our own part we would like to see him made Postmaster-General.

—The Union and American of Sunday says: Late last evening we received word of a most distressing calamity to the family of Capt. Wm. Phillips, four miles north of this city, in the sudden death of his little daughter Bettie, a sweet child of eight or ten years. The buggy had been brought out for the use of some purpose, and little Bettie and another child were gleefully seated in it, awaiting its departure. From some cause the horse became frightened, ran away, and Bettie was thrown out, receiving fatal injuries. In this distressing affliction we deeply sympathize with the bereaved family, and tender them our hearty condolence in the fall of one so bright, so tender and so pure.

—The Tuscumbia (Ala.) Times of the 10th says: Last Thursday afternoon, 5th inst., William H. Petrie, of Frankfort, struck Jones, a shoemaker, who had about six months ago moved to Frankfort from Columbia, Tenn., across the neck with a double barrel shotgun, killing him instantly. The facts, as we have them from Hon. Charles Womble, are, that on that evening Jones was drinking, and without any known cause or provocation, attacked Petrie with a shoe knife, striking at him several times. Petrie trying to get out of his way all the time. Petrie having a shotgun in his hands, and the thrusts at him by Jones becoming very difficult to shun, Petrie struck him on the back of the neck, intending only to disarm him; but the blow broke his neck and he died almost instantly. Every one present joins in acquitting Petrie of any blame, and say that he acted in self-defense.

—A resolution in regard to the improvement of the Tennessee river, and praying the aid of Congress for that purpose, passed the Tennessee Senate on Saturday and was transmitted to the House, where, the Nashville Banner thinks, it will certainly pass. The Banner adds: The work of expending the appropriations already made for this river, which are sufficient to annihilate the terrors of the "Suck," "Pot," and other obstructions in the upper river, is under the control of Gen. G. Weitzel, one of the most efficient officers of the United States Corps of Engineers, while the immediate superintendence of the Tennessee river improvement is confided to Col. W. B. Gaw, one of the best known and most competent civil engineers in the South. The reputation of these gentlemen is a sufficient guaranty that the work will be well done, and should give their recommendations and estimates great weight with Congress. Except the Mississippi, there is no river whose improvement would be more of a national benefit than the Tennessee, which, if made navigable at all seasons, as the report of its survey demonstrates it can be, at a small expense in comparison with the returns to be derived, would assume an importance as a grand artery of internal commerce second to no other tributary to that great inland sea—the Father of Waters.

—About the election of State Printer, the Union and American of Sunday says: The election for State Printer is set for to-morrow, and is exciting considerable interest among candidates for the place and their immediate friends and supporters. Among the names of candidates we hear mentioned is that of Capt. Grisham, of Jonesboro. It is probable that Mr. Mercer, of the Press and Times, will be a candidate for re-election. Among rumors mentioned in connection with the struggle for this reputedly fat job of State patronage, is one to the effect that an association of gentlemen represented by Hon. H. H. Harrison, will make an effort to secure the work.

—The Franklin Review of the 12th gives an account of the burning of the new residence of Capt. W. E. Cunningham, one and a half miles from that town, and adds: "Only last week we chronicled a painful accident to Capt. Cunningham, from which he is still suffering. His loss on Monday night will fall heavily upon him, as he had invested the savings of years of toil in the erection of this residence."

INTERNATIONAL PACIFIC.

An Appeal for it from the New York Round Table.

We have before now laid before our readers the plan of the contemplated International Pacific Railroad, as outlined in a bill now pending in Congress. There already exists a railroad line from Toledo, on the Canada border, through Indianapolis to Vincennes, Indiana; and Gen. Burnside is building a continuation from Vincennes to Cairo. Connecting with this road at Cairo, the International Pacific road will pass through the southeastern corner of Missouri, through the center of Arkansas and the most populous part of Texas, to Larado, on the Rio Grande, whence it continues, bifurcating, to the city of Mexico, and to the port of San Blas on the Pacific coast. The importance of such a road cannot be overestimated. It will connect the South with the North, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and the Western States with Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, and the tier of southernmost States—the frozen regions of Canada with the torrid plains and valleys of Mexico—the Great Lakes with the Pacific. It cuts a large number of the great rivers of the continent, whose commerce will be tributary to it. It does not pass through an undeveloped country, but through a territory already peopled and giving an annual production of vast wealth and importance. Cities, towns and villages will rapidly be founded along its entire line. Other roads running east and west upon a parallel of latitude, can facilitate only the exchanges which Eastern commerce calls from the Western farmer; but this line, having its northern terminus on Lake Erie, in latitude 41°, cuts all the intermediate parallels to latitude 21° on the Pacific. By such a road the inhabitants of the South readily reach the North in summer, and those of the North as readily reach the South in winter; it opens the natural exchange of Northern products with those of Southern growth, and the exchange of bullion from the mines of Mexico for the manufactures of the Western States. When built, it will be the great connecting chain, binding the South and the North and West together by the indissoluble bond of commercial prosperity.

It is satisfactory, therefore, to see that intelligent people in the Southern States are being aroused to the importance of this work to them. At a public meeting, held the other day in the city of Memphis, a committee was charged with the duty of inviting the attention of the people of the States South of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi to the subject of a Pacific railroad, and securing their co-operation in some plan which will extend to the citizens of these States the benefits of the enterprise. The committee includes prominent members of the business community at Memphis, who, on the 10th inst., made and published a very able report upon the subject.

This demonstration of one of the greatest commercial cities of the Mississippi will no doubt bring a ready response from every Southern State. The International road has the features to make it the great national line, conferring blessings alike on the North, the South and the West. That the Southern people, in their present prostrate condition, should ask for help in the loan of the national credit, in building or completing those projected links which would unite the entire railway system of the South with this great international thoroughfare, is natural and reasonable. To build the International railroad itself the credit of the Government—in other words, the loan of Government bonds—is asked only to the amount of fourteen million dollars. Six or eight millions more would probably complete the three connecting links—that is, from Memphis, Vicksburg and New Orleans—with the main stem, making at most but a total grant in aid amounting to twenty or twenty-two millions. From a national point of view, the sum is insignificant in comparison with the great end to be attained. For the building of the Union and the Central Pacific roads government gave some forty million acres of land and loaned its credit for sixty millions of money. To build the Northern Pacific a like land grant has been made and at least an equal amount of credit will have to be loaned. Important as both these roads will be, and costing, as each of them will, double the amount of the Southern road, for the grand objects of developing the resources of the country, the industry of the people, of binding the North and the South together in the bonds of friendly and prosperous intercourse, they fall far below the intrinsic value of this road to the nation at large. But there is another consideration which adds immensely to the importance of this project. It looks directly to the development of Mexico. That fertile country, touching our southern border for two thousand miles, extends from the Gulf to the Pacific, and contains a population of eight millions. Its commerce, its mines, and wealth are largely in the possession of Europeans. The construction of this road will secure to us the present trade of that people, and will in no long time double and treble it. Our sagacious pioneers will rush into the silver regions of Durango and the adjoining States, receiving their chief supplies from us in exchange for their precious metals. The Mexican community will quickly feel the effect of this new element in her population, and the nation will have a chance to rise from her present fallen condition to a greatness worthy of her natural position, or, failing in this, will be peacefully merged, through the votes of her own citizens, and to the satisfaction of the civilized world, in the Great Republic.

—We copy the following from the Vicksburg Times: We know a couple of bright young fellows in the neighboring county of Claiborne, one eighteen and the other seventeen years of age, who have set an example which the boys of our State would do well to emulate. Being too poor to continue their studies and enter college this year, they did the next best thing in their power. At the commencement of the season they took off their coats and went to plowing, and throughout the year they have worked like young Trojans. We heard from them yesterday, and besides having made an abundant harvest of corn, they have produced and are rapidly gathering eighteen bales of cotton.

"RINGS."

The Combinations at the Capital for Swindling the Government.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial writes:

That you may begin, betimes, to understand some of the influences that are now concentrating to besiege Gen. Grant for office, I will outline to you some of the dominant "rings" of the capital.

First, there is the Pacific Coast Ring, made up from Nevada, Oregon and California, who want to get Government money for various mining, draining and land-appropriating chimeras and plunders.

At the head of this ring John Conness is popularly supposed to stand. Identified with him in various degrees, are Nye, Stewart and several Representatives. A large lobby of Californians, permanently resident here, "assist" upon the "hands" of their ringleaders; and of their enterprises are such matters as the Sutro Tunnel, the appropriation of island and coast lands to various visionary corporations, etc. It is not always stated that the enterprises of this or any other "ring" are necessarily dishonest, but the combination of legislators and outsiders to carry through any series of operations by Government help is incipient plunder in itself. The floor of the Legislature gives every man an equal chance in his individual capacity, as a Senator or Representative. The present object of the Pacific Coast Ring is to get Mr. Conness or somebody else put at the head of the Interior Department, on the general theory that "the Pacific Coast will claim the Secretary of the Interior."

"What claim has the Pacific Coast to any Secretaryship?" I said to a Californian, yesterday.

"On our people demand and expect it. They think it is their turn. We are interested in the Interior Department more than anybody else, and know how to administer it."

"Well, if you are interested, that might be an argument against giving it to you."

The most preposterous claim is the geographical one. It is a relic of the old State Sovereignty tyranny, which the war exploded, and assumes that the clod on which a man happens to perch is of consequence beyond the quality of his morals and abilities.

The next thing of note here is the Pacific Railroad Ring, an association of members, senators, contractors, and miners, who expect to "omnibus" the four or five schemes for reaching the Pacific coast at various points, and get in association subsidies and grants of lands and the indorsement of all their bonds.

The Union Pacific Railroad, Eastern Division, was represented here last year by Sam. Wilkison, of New York, in association with four or five runners, strikers, and button-holers, who used the reporter's galleries to effect their purposes, and one or two of the set being clerks of committees, had access to the floors of Congress. This, however, was but a detachment of the Pacific Railroad lobby at large, which had numerous members in both Houses and on committees, particularly from the States of Nebraska, Minnesota, Massachusetts and Kansas. The officers of the various roads were almost constantly here. Money was used without stint. Arguments were plentiful, and backed up by tickets, occasions, books, and what not, and so assured were the corporators of one railway that they voluntarily pushed their road in the direction of Santa Fe, hoping that Congress would find it in the mud and haul it out for pity's sake. The intelligent reader will discriminate between the Pacific Railway proper and these wildcat enterprises, which propose to reach Puget Sound, the Gulf of California, and other places out of the reach of humanity, or the wishes of trade. These Pacific Railway jobs expect to make a combined raid upon Congress in its winter session, soon to begin. The head of the opposition to them is Elihu Washburne.

The Whisky Ring and Tobacco Ring you are acquainted with. The former is supposed to have its headquarters not far from San Francisco. The latter is the committee of an organization of tobacco makers, who can better afford to "treat" with a million rather than double it in taxes.

The New York Ring is the most high-minded organization of all those which attempt to coerce or seduce legislation. It is made up of powerful bankers, shippers and merchants, who insist that the Government, in its policy, shall express the ideas of the commercial capital, contracting or expanding its currency according to the approved necessity of trade and exchange. This ring has writers, but no runners. It uses no instruments; represents itself in propria persona, sees the President face to face, names its "slate," and, armed with the impudence of riches, insists that it is a proper fraction of intelligent power.

Incipient developments of a Mississippi Valley Ring were remarked here last session, to insist upon the water highways of the interior being patronized and subsidized as liberally as the railways. So were there indications of a consolidated St. Lawrence River Ring. The Free Trade Ring you have heard of. The high, protective tariff people make a standing ring. The Indian Ring, popularly claimed to rally around Mix, the Chief Clerk of the Indian Bureau, a Connecticut man, who has held his office many years, will deserve some future consideration. The New England Commercial Ring is also recognized here.

THE VOTE OF THE STATE.

On our first page this morning we publish the full returns of the late Presidential election in this State, for which we are indebted to the Nashville Union and American of Sunday.

JOURNALISTIC.

Mr. JOHN E HATCHER, so well known to the press of the South and Southwest, under the soubriquet of "GEORGE WASHINGTON BRICKS," has with Mr. W. H. PERRIN, late of the Louisville Journal, purchased the Louisville Democrat, which it is their intention to make a live newspaper after the most modern pattern. If there is a man in the West or Southwest, equal to the labor of managing such a concern, that man is JOHN E. HATCHER, whose experience is as varied and knowledge as ample, as that of any member of the press in the country. Skillful, tasteful and thorough, we shall be much disappointed if Mr. HATCHER, as managing Editor of the Democrat, does not make a creditable rival of the Courier-Journal.

Mr. JOHN W. OBERLY, late Editor of the Cairo Democrat, has, we learn, in conjunction with some gentlemen of Cairo, made arrangements whereby he will shortly be in business again and at work for the party that owes to him, in great part, so much of success as has attended the Democracy of Egypt's Capital. We await with impatience the announcement of his new enterprise. It ought to prove successful in his hands, especially as he commences with the prestige of former successes, and his old friends of the Democracy of all Egypt to back him.

PRESIDENTIAL POWER.

The Radicals are just now discussing the propriety of repealing their unconstitutional limitation of the authority of the President. It is well known that these laws were enacted for the special purpose of restraining Mr. JOHNSON, and preventing his official interference with the Reconstruction measures of Congress. Now that his time has nearly expired, and that he is about to give way to Gen. GRANT, many of the more conservative of the dominant party are anxious to restore the full dignity of the Presidential office. Others—among the more Radical of the party—are opposed to the repeal of these laws, and advocate a permanent controlling influence over the Executive. They are not sure of GRANT. The good words spoken of him and those written by Democratic journalists, have excited a suspicion of possibility that GRANT may Tylerize the party by selecting moderate Democrats and Conservative Republicans to fill the offices and assist him in the administration of the Government. They begin to construe his silence as portentous to their claims, and are unwilling wholly to trust him. They would reserve their power, and therefore refuse to accede to the general wish, that in the person of Gen. GRANT the dignity and prerogatives of the Presidential office may be united. The Democrats in Congress, and many of the leaders out of it, together with the leading and influential journals, have united in the expression of a purpose to introduce a bill for the repeal of the obnoxious and mischievous laws, and to restore the full powers and authority of the President and the quid nunes about Washington are of opinion that rather than permit themselves to be outdone by their opponents the Conservative Republicans will introduce a bill looking to that end.

Any way, so that it is done. But would it not be a graceful compliment, and one of which he is worthy, were Congress to repeal those laws while President JOHNSON is yet in office, and thus pave the way for a full and complete restoration of the entente cordiale which should exist between two great parties determined only upon the public good. Such an act would not only be well-timed, but be accepted as indicative of a determination on the part of the Republicans to meet the Democracy half way in their labors for peace and good-will.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

Under the heading "Got us Where the Hair's short," we read in the Nashville Banner of Sunday that the Albany (Ind.) Commercial says:

"The loan of $6,000,000 just effected by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company was with Texas capitalists. The money was paid to James Guthrie, Jr., at the company's office in Nashville, on Thursday. Eight thousand dollars in revenue stamps were attached to the papers. The money, it is said, will be used by the company in purchasing roads in Tennessee, which are to be sold by the governmen of that State The object of the company seems to be to get a controlling influence in the vital roads of that State with a view to the aggrandizement of their main enterprise—the Nashville line and the city o Louisville. The necessiti s of the State of Tennessee will be used to advantage y the capitalists of Louisville, and, judging from how such things are going, there is every reason for entertaining the belief that Louisville will become the railroad center of the southwest, and wield an influence, both political and commercial, which will be felt down to the gulf."

If this is true what's the use of talking of Radical villainy? Why not open on "Capitalists villainy?" Tennessee capital—$8 000,000—loaned to place the railroad interests of the State in the hands of a foreign corporation! It is too much for us. We cannot do the subject justice.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON.

The National Intelligencer of the 11th, in an article retrospective of the past four years, thus fairly and justly eulogizes President JOHNSON:

And has not the time now arrived when President Johnson's true position is being understood by the great masses of his countrymen? Has he any enemy now so bitter as could even wish that his fame should lie under the mountain of calumny that party rage has heaped upon it? For the sake of our faith in the nobler qualities which go so far to redeem even the worst of men, we would fain believe that every day of moderation will be a day of sunlight and justice in the hearts of all to the record of President Johnson's motives in his administration.

History will never forget that instead of courting the breath of agitation, which must, if he had fanned it, have carried him per force into a second term, he preferred the patriotic labor of justice, conciliation, and restoration on the basis of the Constitution of the United States, as he understood it, to entertaining the dogma to which point Congress forced him—of a dismembered Union, of the Northern part of which he, who swore to be President of the United States was to consider himself only as the local civil Chief Magistrate. History will soon write down, even in the souls of all his late detractors, that a more unselfish and single-hearted statesman has not lived in our day than is Andrew Johnson. And so far his party reward has been the recompense that awaits all public men who have the courage to stand and put position and power in the way of a passionate and revolutionary party before its force is spent. Against the absolute power of a resistless party President Johnson has only opposed his powerless convictions and unanswerable arguments; unanswerable so far as these arguments are based on the Constitution of the United States, which, as its sworn Chief Magistrate, he was bound to respect. The other view of the subject, "outside of the Constitution," which the late Mr. Stevens thought justified by the necessity of the case, it was impossible for the Chief Magistrate of a united people, acting under a written Constitution, to entertain in time of peace, and when the sections of both of which he is the solemn guardian, were appealing for health and restoration. And for this discharge of his duty, in his own blunt, resolute, fearless way, history will honor him long before those who have so wantonly misjudged and persecuted him have reached that sober second thought, which, even in their judgments, will yet do him justice.

OBITUARIES.

BARON JAMES ROTHSCHILD.

The telegraph of yesterday brought us the news of the death at Paris, on Monday, of Baron JAMES ROTHSCHILD, the head of the great European banking house of the ROTHSCHILDS. He was born May 5, 1792, the year that his father, MAYER ANSELM, first became known as a negotiator of Government loans. Associated with his brother SOLOMAN in the management of the Vienna branch of the house, he gave such earnest of ability as induced his father to intrust him with the sole conduct of the Paris branch, where up to the time of his death he enjoyed the confidence of the public and the successive crowned heads that in forty five years have administered the affairs of France. Closely allied with his father and brothers in every act of his life, it is impossible to write of Baron JAMES as of a man who had an identity and purpose in life distinct from those around him. Born just as the great house was coming into notoriety, his life is that of the house, and the history of the house his own. The founder of the family and father of JAMES was MAYER ANSELM or ANSCHEL ROTHSCHILD, who was educated for a rabbi; but commenced business as a small trader, and eventually procured a situation in a Hanoverian banking house. Subsequently he returned to Frankfort, and established himself as a banker there, and the rich Landgrave of Hesse, WILLIAM IX. (who afterward, as Elector of Hesse, took the title of WILLIAM I), made him his banker. ROTHSCHILD first became known as a negotiator of government loans in 1792, when the French General CUSTINE imposed upon the Senate of Frankfort a very heavy ransom, as the alternative of the sacking of their city. The Senate could devise no means of procuring the money, when the Jewish banker obtained it for them from the Landgrave. His services in negotiating loans were afterward frequently in demand among the smaller states of Germany. In 1806 NAPOLEON decreed the forfeiture of the states of the sovereigns of Hesse-Cassel and Brunswick, and sent an army to enforce his decree. The Elector was unable to offer resistance, but he had $5,000,000 in silver, which he was unwilling to give up to NAPOLEON, and unable to carry with him in his flight. Sending for ROTHSCHILD, he offered him the use of the money without interest, if he would remove it to a place of safety. The banker and his sons, whom he had associated with him in business, enjoyed the use of this large sum for eight years. When NAPOLEON was banished to Elba, the Elector gave notice that he should withdraw it; but when NAPOLEON escaped and returned to France, he was so much alarmed that he urged the ROTHSCILDS to keep it at the interest of two per cent. per annum, which they did until 1823, when they returned it to his son and successor, having won by their faithful and able management the confidence of courts and financiers. MAYER ANSELM ROTHSCHILD had ten children, five of them sons, all of whom survived him. The eldest, ANSELM (born June 12, 1773, died Dec. 6, 1855), was his father's partner and successor at Frankfort. The second SOLOMON (born Sept. 9, 1774, died July, 1855), at first the traveling partner of the firm, was eventually established in Vienna. The third, NATHAN MAYER (born Sept. 16, 1777, died at Frankfort, July 28, 1836), settled in London in 1798, and became the most prominent, as he was generally deemed the ablest, financier of the family. CHARLES (born April 24, 1788, died March 10, 1855), settled at Naples in 1821, and JAMES, the subject of our sketch, (born May 5, 1792). The five brothers constituted but one firm, in which all had an equal interest, but conducted their business under five branches, each under the charge of one of them. The house for many years have been the principal takers of the loans of the European governments, and have in some instances compelled peace by refusing to furnish the sinews of war. Within a period of less than twelve years, they have furnished in loans $200,000,000 to England, $50,000,000 to Austria, $40 000,000 to Prussia, $80,000,000 to France, $50,000 000 to Naples, $25,000,000 to Russia, $12,000,000 to Brazil, and $4 000,000 to some of the smaller states. Their promptness, and the courtesy with which they responded to Metternich's application for a loan in 1813, led the Austrian Emperor to confer on each of the brothers a patent of nobility, with the title of Baron of the Empire. The members of the family of the third, and even some of the fourth generation, have been taken into the partnership, and will perpetuate the business. The leading active partner, and head of the house by the death of Baron JAMES, is Baron NATHAN LIONEL DE ROTHSCHILD, of London, son of NATHAN, born in London in 1808, and succeeding to his father's titles and connections in 1836. In 1847 he was elected a member of the House of Commons from the city of London; but declining to take the ordinary oath, "on the true faith of a Christian," he did not take his seat, although regularly re elected, till 1858, when, the disabilities being removed, he took his seat in the House, being the first adherent of the Jewish religion who ever sat in the Commons. The members of the family have very generally intermarried, so that their immense wealth will probably remain in a few hands for many years. They have met with few heavy losses, the only one of considerable amount being the result of the revolutions of 1848, by which they are said to have lost in nine months about $40,000,000; but so vast was their wealth, that even this did not in the least impair their credit or position. They have now banking houses in most of the large cities of the world.

THE MARQUIS OF HASTINGS.

The telegraph, a few days since, advised us of the death, at London, in his twenty-sixth year, of the Marquis of Hastings, notorious for the fact that, with a wealth of titles, honors and money, to which he succeeded in 1863, he made, in five years, a reputation as the fastest man in England, a gambler, a jockey and a very weak-headed patronizer of everything vicious in connection with the turf. He was born in 1842, succeeded to his brother's titles and estates in 1851, and to his mother's barony and estates in 1858. When he became of age, in July, 1863, the accumulations of his vast rentals, (for his father had carefully "nursed" his vast possessions, besides adding to them by a highly advantageous marriage,) during a minority of twelve years, were estimated at between three and four million dollars, and his income at about $600,000 a year. At the age of twenty-two he married one of the Marquis of Anglesey's daughters, born in the same year as himself, and both lived at so very fast a rate as to be all but ruined in the spring of 1866. The Marquis had gone eagerly and ignorantly into horse-racing, and, as very frequently happens with foolish rich young men who take to "the turf," was swindled on all sides He owned "the favorite" for the Derby at Epsom races, last year, and expected that by winning that race he would be able to pay off his more pressing "debts of honor," then amounting to about a million of dollars. It happened, however, that a horse owned by Mr. CHAPIN (a former accepted and finally-for-rank rejected suitor of the handsome young Marchioness) was the winner, whereby another $500,000 or so was added to the pile of his lordship's debts. He was minded again to try his luck at the Derby this spring, but failed. Since then he has been heard of only slightly, chiefly by the sales of his property, and only a few weeks ago his eldest sister purchased those very Yorkshire estates of his which Norman William had given to his fighting ancestor eight hundred years ago. So ends an ancient line; so perishes a vast hereditary property won on the field of battle, increased by advantageous marriages, and dissipated on the race-course and in the betting-rooms at Tattersall's. His widow, on whom he settled a large dowry, proportionate to the vastness of his property when he married her, four years ago, is well provided for, and, being only twenty-six years old, may probably have a sunny future before her, after she has got over her grief at the death of a husband who, it is said, whatever his faults, was devoted to her—sensual depravity not being among his vices as a married man.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, November 17.—The Verango Oil Transportation Company have sold to the Erie Railroad Company, for the sum of $1,600 000, a water front of 2000 feet at the Verango Oil docks, in Weehawken. The transfer was made subject to a mortgage of $350 000, held by the Hoboken Land Improvement Company. The certainty that this locality, at no distant day, will be the great depot and terminus of the Western and Southern lines, induced the Erie Company to forestall any competition by securing this valuable water front.

Eight buildings in Fulton avenue, Brooklyn, owned by S. J. Herman, were destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $22,000, including that of the occupants.

In accordance with the will of the late Edwin O. Stevens, the Stevens' battery is to be completed at a cost not exceeding $1,000,000 Gen. George B. McClellan has been engaged to superintend the work, at a salary of $10,000 a year. The engagement was effected in Paris by Mr. Stevens shortly before his death, Gen. McClellan and he having been negotiating with several European governments for the construction of a battery similar to the one projected by Mr. Stevens. According to the will, this battery, when completed, shall be presented to the State of New Jersey, and in case it is not accepted, it shall be sold and the proceeds added to the estate.

Emil Steumfels, late U. S Consul to Maricaibo, died on board the bark Ilvia, on her passage here.

A new suit against the Directors of the Erie Railroad Company was begun in the Supreme Court chambers before Judge Sutherland to-day, on the application of August Belmont. The application is founded on affidavits by Frank Work and others, substantially setting forth that the money of the Company has been used by Gould, Fisk and Lane in furtherance of stock speculations for their private interests. The affidavits further set forth that Fisk is an adventurer from New England. They also allege that Pike's Opera House has been purchased, in the sole name of Fisk, with the money of the Company to the amount of $850,000. Fisk, Gould and Lane are further charged with having issued from $23 000,000 to $30,000,000 in spurious shares, with a view of creating a corner in Wall street. The affidavits further allege that the above named individuals have denied the Directors access to the banks, and in fact managed the affairs of the company exclusively for their own interests, and in a reckless manner. Judge Southerland has granted an injunction which directs the officers and agents of the company to refrain from increasing the capital stock of the Erie Railroad Company beyond the amount now outstanding, and now in the hands of bona fide holders; and also orders that the defendants refrain from removing any of the books, papers, securities or funds of the company from the jurisdiction of the Court; and also that the funds shall be applied for no purpose but the payment of the legitimate debts and expenses of the company, and that the balance shall be disposed of in such manner as the court may from time to time direct. The court also orders that the officers and agents of the company shall refrain from obstructing any of the directors from examining any of the banks of said company.

Another suit has been brought by Chas. McIntosh against the directors and August Belmont, in which an injunction has been obtained, but whether this is in aid or against the first suit does not appear.

THE NEW CHURCH to be erected on Second street, between Gayoso and Beal, is for the Baptist denomination, and is for the congregation of the Rev. Dr. Pond. The foundations for the steeple have already been laid, and are twenty-five by thirty-six feet. The altitudes of the steeple and spire is to be one hundred and forty feet. The body of the building will be one hundred and thirty-five by sixty-five feet; and, when finished, will accommodate eight hundred worshippers, conveniently. We understand the work is to be pushed forward rapidly to completion.

DISGUISED POISONS.—The Medical Gazette calls attention to the use in servant-gal circles of a corrosive poison, peroxalate of potash, which is purchased by these nymphs under the luscious name of "salts of lemon," for the purpose of removing stains, and being procured is left carelessly about the house, where it may at any moment be mistaken for the usual kitchen condiments. A case is instanced where, by this careless act, a paper of the peroxalate was mistaken for epsom salts, which it much resembles in appearance, and made use of with fatal results. Wherefore, the Gazette warns housekeepers to keep an eye on the "powdhers."

A FUND for the relief of the widows and orphans of deceased physicians is now engaging the attention of the profession, in consequence of the recommendation of the American Medical Association. A plan has been proposed to establish asylums near large cities where universities are in operation, and educational advantages can be secured. To raise the necessary funds, a contribution of $3 from each physician is suggested, and estimating the number of members in the United States at 150,000, a sum of $450,000 can be obtained to purchase the grounds and erect suitable buildings. To defray the expense of supporting the establishment, an annual assessment of $3 is to be made, and the payment of this sum will entitle the family of the contributor to the benefits of the charity. It is calculated that $50,000 would be sufficient for the support of the asylums, and that $400,000 would be available for paying pensions to the widows and orphans.

HORRIBLE DISCOVERY.

A Man found Disemboweled and Floating in Hatchie River.

A Frightful Mystery—Who Shall Clear it Up?

As two colored men, named James Beckton and William Green, were duck hunting on Hatchie river, on Monday about midday, they discovered floating in a still bend of the river, about two miles from Shelby depot, the body of what they at first took to be some animal. On fishing it to shore, however, they discovered that it was the body of a human being. The head and feet were both submerged and only the body was above water. On giving it a closer examination they discovered, to their horror, that the body had been mutilated and disemboweled, and although it had been so long in the water that the skin was nearly all peeled off, they could see that the deceased was a negro. He was naked with the exception of two shirts—one white and a striped one. Of course in the advanced stage of decomposition it was impossible for the finders to determine whether the body was that of a young or old man.

After securing the body so that it would not float away, Beckton and Green came to town yesterday afternoon and informed Coroner Samelson who immediately sent 'Squire Brewer out to hold an inquest and to learn the facts in the case.

This case, from its surroundings, is one that surely involves a horrid mystery—the mutilation, the ripping open of the body, and other circumstances which we are not now at liberty to make public, point to a nameless crime and an awful retribution. Meanwhile we await further developments.

BASCOM COME AGAIN.

Lectures of Rev. R. A. Holland.

This gentleman, very young in years and in the ministry, has excited the attention of our people as few have been able to of late years. Following upon the heels of Rev. Dr. Palmer, the great light of the Presbyterian church, unknown to this community as possessed of extraordinary gifts, the Rev. Mr. Holland has added to a reputation for effective oratory such as few in any church in the South can just now lay claim to. This is saying a great deal, but it is not saying too much. We are mindful of the great number of eloquent men who minister in the high places of the distinguished Christian body of which he is a member—a church whose praises are in every mouth for work done and results achieved. We are mindful of the great ability that directs and controls the affairs of Methodism in the South. We remember how much we owe to the evangelizing efforts of this church, of its levening influences upon society; and how much of that is due to the self denying and devoted ministry who, whether "roughing it in the bush" or rejoicing in the ease and comforts of city life, are yet eloquent in their efforts at their Master's work, and untiring in their zeal for the advancement of the spiritual interests of His people. Last Sunday—we endorse the words of the Christian Advocate—"In the morning at Wesley Church, and in the evening at Asbury Church, the Rev. R. A. Holland preached to the largest congregations ever assembled within their walls, and preached with the wonderful eloquence and beauty by which he is rapidly acquiring a fame as high as a Bascom's or a Maffit's—though the style of his preaching is quite different from that which distinguished either one of those grand masters of pulpit oratory. His style we do not attempt to describe, nor to give an analysis of his sermons. It must suffice to say, that while expectation was on tiptoe—all anticipating breathing thoughts and burning words—there was no disappointment. The great truths of the gospel which fell from his lips were heard by the people, as though they were spoken by an angel of God."

On Monday evening Mr. Holland lectured for the benefit of Springdale Church. His subject was "Jerusalem." It has seldom fallen to our lot to listen to anything more brilliant than his descriptions of the sacred places so full of interest to all Christians. He revisited the scenes made memorable by the ministry and the sufferings of The Christ, and by the vividness of his descriptive powers carried his hearers with him. Wondering, they wandered up and down the streets of the "City of the Great King," stopping here a little, and there a little, while the eloquent guide expatiated upon the wondrous events of the Saviour's career. Nothing like that lecture has been heard in Memphis in years, if ever. Well may the Christian Advocate say that "that lecture is now a gallery of paintings in the mind and memory of many a hearer, and will be to every one a beauty and a joy forever."

Last night he lectured at the Greenlaw Opera House, before a large and respectable audience, subject: "What will he do with it." He divided his lecture into three parts—the Body, the Mind and the Soul—treating each fully and elaborately. The first he regarded as of least moment, and the second as subsidiary to the soul, which he said should be cultivated with a view to the solemn future. Regarded in any way it was an admirable lecture. Both the matter and the manner were as effective as on the previous occasions above alluded to. Almost a master of oratory, he possesses a charm of manner not unlike that which with cultivated people proved so attractive in Dr. Huestion, of the same church. We regret that Mr. Holland's stay with us is so short, and that many whose engagements prevented their attendance were denied the pleasure of hearing him. He leaves us almost directly for Baltimore, where he will enter upon the duties of pastor of Trinity Church. We wish him a life of usefulness and of creditable labor, such as he has mapped out for himself.

MASONIC COMMITTEE ON WORK.—The committee on the address of the Grand High Priest, at the late annual meeting of the Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, (which convened at Nashville the 30th of September last,) recommended in their report, among other things, the appointment of a committee of three from each of the Grand Divisions of the State, who, in connection with the Grand High Priest, and the other three principal officers of the Grand Chapter, shall constitute a Committee on Work, whose duty it shall be to meet at the Masonic Temple in the city of Nashville, at such time as shall be designated by the Grand High Priest, and continue in session from day to day, until they may agree upon a system of work for the adoption of the Grand Chapter, and that they be empowered to appoint one or more Grand Lecturers for each Division of the State, to impart the same to the subordinate Chapters thereof. The following Companions were appointed on the committee this provided for: John W. Par-ker, Knoxville; John F. Stover, Athens; A. R. Piper, Jonesboro; John McClelland, Nashville; James McCallum, Pulaski; Altha Thomas, Franklin; A. S. Curry, Trenton; A. J. Wheeler, Memphis; Solomon W. Cochran, Troy; and J. A. Thomas, Nashville. This committee will meet in Nashville the last Tuesday in November, (24th inst.,) at eleven o'clock, a.m.

RITUALISM.—The Christian Advocate of yesterday, has the following upon a subject that has occupied much of the space of the APPEAL: "The absurd excitement about Ritualism, in Protestant Episcopal circles in this city, created by the Rev. Mr. Rogers, and which has been raging for some few weeks, has at last attained its highest degree. The reverend gentleman has renounced his Church and consistently avowed his conversion to Romanism. Sunday last he delivered a discourse, in which he gave his reasons for this change, and bade farewell to parishioners and old friends. We must express admiration of his consistency, while we wonder what keeps the high Church party from following him—if they will not return to the simplicity of the gospel."

DEAF MUTES.

Their Religious and Secular Education.

Lecture of Rev. Dr. Gallaudet.

The Rev. Dr. Gallaudet, Rector of St. Anne's Church, of New York, delivered a lecture last evening at Calvary Church, on the subject of the education of deaf mutes. Previous to the lecture the regular services of the church were read by Dr Gallaudet, assisted by Dr. White and Mr. Simpson.

In opening his discourse, Dr. Gallaudet adverted to the unfortunate condition of those who, by the mysterious workings of God's Providence, have been deprived of the great gifts of speech and hearing, and our duties toward them. He then traced the history of the movement to educate the deaf mutes in this country, commencing with the sending of his father, then a young man, to Europe, to qualify himself to educate the deaf and dumb daughter of a Hartford physician; his return, and the establishment of the New England, (afterward the American) Asylum, April 15, 1815, up to the present time. He next explained the alphabet and its use, and its difference between the sign-language which is now universally used in the colleges, schools and asylums for deaf mutes.

The doctor then gave some examples of each, and detailed the method of instructing the mutes from the primary classes up to the method of imparting religious instruction and conducting religious ceremonies. The sign-language is commonly used in public worship, and to show how rapidly and correctly ideas could be conveyed in it, the lecturer repeated the beginning of the Anglican prayer-book, and the Lord's prayer in this language, giving at the same time the philosophy of many of the signs.

He then gave a short and succinct account of the origin of the Church of St. Anne, as at present conducted, and of the religious services for mutes in large cities—New York, Albany, Baltimore, Boston, etc.—stating that there were twenty thousand deaf mutes in this country for whom religious services must be supplied. In conclusion he asked those who felt interested in the work and able to give to assist, assuring them that funds were sadly needed.

The Doctor's style is colloquial and pleasant, and we regret that we cannot give a fuller report. We hope that those of our citizens who "have and to spare" will not let him appeal in vain in this cause which deserves aid from all.

HAUL OF MACKERELS.—The First district police made a heavy haul of mackerels yesterday and carried five of the most notorious—John Brady, James Stevens, John Kelley, John Haley and John Steeln—before 'Squire Griffith on charge of being vagrants and having no visible means of support. The 'Squire, on mature deliberation, committed the five 'on the vag.'

PERSONAL.

We had the pleasure of a call, yesterday, from Mr. J. E. Read, of the Coahomian, who remains in town for a few days.

We learn with pleasure that the Rev. M. J. Walsh, who has returned from Europe, is again in improved health and at his station, which, during his absence, has been filled by Father Coyle. While we welcome the return of Father Walsh, we are sorry to part with Father Coyle, who now returns to his own charge at the Cathedral at Nashville. Wherever Father Coyle has been stationed—at Pensacola, Mobile and Selma—he has made hosts of warm and ardent friends and admirers, and his stay in Memphis is no exception to the rule.

GEN. GRANT'S ELECTION.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

Without being able to give any specific reason for it, our people are cheerful and hopeful in view of the incoming Federal administration. This is the case everywhere I have been and at every point from which I have heard. So far as the Southern people are concerned no man ever went into the Presidency with prospects of more hearty support than Gen. Grant. He is not committed personally to any line of policy any further than his honor as a soldier and gentleman may bind him to work up as nearly as he can to the terms of the surrender stipulated by himself.

The people of the South are tired of political wrangling and only desire a fair and equitable Government under which they can return to their former prosperity. And the administration that will give them this will receive a hearty, generous and manly support. Even in the midst of the distractions engendered by the extreme measures of Congress for the last four years, they have gone far to retrieve their fortunes, and the present crop will produce millions of money that will not have to go North and West to pay for meat, dry goods and notions, but will remain in the country to be invested in improving their farms, their mode of cultivation, and to be invested in home manufactories. Under a peaceful and equitable government, which is all they ask, the day of unparalleled prosperity is near at hand. All that is wanting now is a little prudence and statesmanship, and all will be right. Instead of wrangling about politics, the people want to go to work, and to be allowed to enjoy the fruits of their labor.

FOR THE LADIES.

The Latest Fashions in Furs, Etc., Etc., Etc.

Yesterday was one of those raw, nipping days, which following on the heels of the balmy weather of Indian summer, so forcibly reminds us that Old Frosty has come, and makes us all bethink ourselves of furs or overcoats. Messrs. Francisco & Wiggin, hatters and furriers, and leaders of the fashions in all that pertains to their line, fully anticipating these days, and the demand they would cause for furs, have imported and have in store, at their splendid establishment, No. 307 Main street, one of the most complete, novel and beautiful stocks of furs that we have ever examined. Among the novelties in collars, which they offer to the ladies of Memphis for the first time, and squirrel Eugenies, and Eugenies of mink, lustre mink, black sable, and Canadian or French sable, and circulars of the same, with muffs to suit. In muffs there is a novelty (and we have the word of one who has been twenty years in the business, that it is a novelty,) which we are sure will please the ladies,—we mean the patent solid muff of the finest sable. To look at it one would think it quite solid, and the contrary is only made apparent by sliding the hand in. They are not only much more handsome, but warmer than the old style, and are all the fashion in Paris and New York this year. In children's goods, the latest and most beautiful thing that we have to chronicle is a muff of river mink, made in a new style, with the head of the little animal stuffed in front. Full sets of lapin, ermine and mink are also in vogue for children. In fact, our lady friends who wish anything in the line of furs, cannot be supplied better than at 309 Main.

Gentlemen (who read everything intended for ladies), are reminded that Messrs. Francisco & Wiggin keep always on hand the very best and newest fashions in hats, canes, etc. By the way, in hats, the handsomest thing in the dress line that we have yet seen is the "Dunlap Fifth Avenue Hat."

In speaking of the house of Messrs. Francisco & Wiggin, we should leave out a very important part did we neglect to mention Mr. D V Denis, formerly with Messrs. Wheaton & Co., but who for some time past has been with Messrs. Francisco & Wiggin, where he will be happy to meet his old friends and acquaintances.

DEMOCRACY IN THE UNITED STATES

What It Has Done, What It is Doing, and What It Will Do.

BY HON. RANSOM H. GILLET,

Formerly Member of Congress from St. Lawrence county, N. Y; more recently Registrar and Solicitor of the United States Treasury Department, and Solicitor for the United States in the Court of Claims, Etc.

IN one elegant volume, large 12mo, of over 460 pages, bound in extra cloth, and containing splendid Portraits on steel of Jefferson, Jackson, Seymour and Blair, and including Biographical Sketches of the Democratic Nominees. Price, $2 00.

This admirable work contains a complete and spirited history of the Democratic party, from its origin down to the present time. It is a vast repository of political and historical facts of profound interest to every citizen, and of value to every politician for reference. No political text-book is so complete, so full of reliable information, or so interesting as this. No Democrat can afford to be without it, as it supplies him with every fact bearing upon the issues now before the public. The author's experience dates far back into the early portion of the century; he was an associate of Silas Wright, he enjoyed the confidence and friendship of Jackson, Van Buren, Polk, Taylor, Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan, and, probably better than any man living, is acquainted with what the internal workings of parties have been for the last fifty years.

Mailed, post free, to any part of the United States on receipt of price.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, November 17 1868.

FINANCE.

There is very little change to note in the state of our money market. County Scrip is not so firm as on yesterday, and is tending to lower rates. On Saturday holders would not listen to offers of 75c, but to-day they were extremely anxious to obtain that figure, and the weakness of the market has developed several good sized amounts not heard of before. We heard of $7000 changing hands, in various amounts, at 75c during the early part of the day, but by noon we could hear of no buyers. The causes of the decline, just upon the eve of another week to pay taxes, we do not pretend to explain, but it is no doubt due in part to the withdrawal of our largest buyers, who have about all the money they want to tie up already invested. We do not imagine that the decline will be either permanent or serious. Dealers are checking to tax-payers at 78@80c, the latter for small amounts.

The supply of exchange is somewhat improved, and several of our banks have engaged to discount liberally to cotton buyers for several days to come. Rates are irregular—governed altogether by the supply on hand. Some of our discount houses are taking Eastern bills at ½c discount, while others discount freely at ¼c. In New Orleans exchange rates are the same as yesterday. The counter demand is fairly active at par on all points North and South. Exchange in New York, at the opening to-day, 9½@9¾c.

Gold opened in New York at 136¾c and at 2 p.m. was 134¼c. Our dealers buy at New York rates and sell at an advance of 1@2c.

Deposits have fallen off slightly within the last week or two, in consequence of many of our heaviest cotton men preferring to carry their cotton to selling at present prices, but as soon as sales again become active we may look for a large increase in this line.

City Scrip, though quiet, shows no signs of the downward movement noticeable in County Warrants; 82c was offered for a lot of $12,000 and refused. Dealers sell at 85c.

Police Scrip is scarce and firm. It is said that no more of this money will be issued. We quote at 85c buying. Selling 90c.

COTTON.

This being an election day in Liverpool, no cotton dispatches were received from that market.

In New York, at the opening, the market was unchanged in every respect. At noon it was dull, and at 2 p.m. was weak, with a moderate demand—Low Middlings, 22½c; Uplands, 24@24½c; Mobile, 24½c; Orleans, 24½c; Good Middlings, 25½c. Sales 1800 bales.

In New Orleans cotton opened with a moderate demand at an advance on the closing quotations of yesterday—Middlings, 23c. At 2 p.m. the demand was moderate and prices firm; sales to that hour 2500 bales.

Our market was quiet but firm. The inquiry was rather better in the morning than at the close, but views were wide apart and holders refused to uncover their tables in many instances. We quote sales of 2 bales Good Ordinary at 21c; 40 at 21½c; 20 Low Middlings, 21½c; 17, 7 and 6 at 21½c; 27 and 21 at 21½c; 121 Shy Middlings and 100 do. at 21½c; 178 Middlings, 21½c; 31, 2, 15, 50 and 14 at 22c; 14 at 22½c; 6 Strict Middlings, 22½c.

TRADE.

Business was active to-day, under the influence of the cold weather, which has set in in earnest. Our dry goods houses were busy, not only in filling orders, but in attending to the vast number of shoppers who were out making purchases, which have been delayed on account of the almost summer weather prevailing up to this time. The local packets brought in large orders and went out well laden.

The crop of Barbadoes for the currrent year has been all shipped. It comprises 5806 hogsheads of sugar, 23,643 puncheons of rum, 1318 hogsheads and 1755 barrels of molasses.

In 1860 we had a cotton crop of 5,000,000 bales—enough to supply all the mills of Europe and America. Other countries furnished in that year 750,000 bales, all of which could have been spared. Our crop was sufficient to supply 33,000,000 spindles in Great Britain, 12,000,000 upon the continent and 5 000,000 in this country—50 000,000 in all. The spindles, at only $10 each, represent, with their looms, bleacheries and printworks, a fixed investment of 500,000,000. In their operations about 1,000,000 operatives raised the five million bales of cotton from a value of $200 000,000 to at least $500,000,000, and thus furnished cheap clothing to the world.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

Weather clear and cold. The river at this point rose about 12 inches yesterday, with 10 feet to Cairo, and fully that depth at President's island. The Arkansas was unchanged at last report, with 3 feet to Pine Bluff, 30 inches to Little Rock, and 22 inches to Fort Smith. The upper Mississippi is falling rapidly. The late cold snap has also checked the rise in the Ohio. There is about 8 feet in that stream from Cairo to Louisville.

MISCELLANEOUS.

There were fourteen steamers lying at our levee yesterday and business was quite animated. Cotton and flour, grain, hay, and the thousand and one other articles of merchandise generally carried by steamers, were piled upon the bank from one end of the wharf to the other. All of our local packets had good trips, but as there was little cotton shipping transient boats got little freight.

The Kilgour left for Louisville light. We regret that Capt. Benson did not get a paying trip, and hope he will do better next time. He had 10,000 sacks of corn engaged on his down trip, but Capt. Ross, of the Nick Longworth, which came down ahead of him, by representing that the Kilgour would not come out at all, got the freight.

Col. S. B. Beaumont, the newly elected Superintendent of the Little Rock Railroad, left for Little Rock last evening on the Liberty.

The Will. S. Hays will be as good as new in a day or two, and will load for some Ohio river port.

The Minneola, Capt. Miller, will back out to-day for Cairo, Louisville and Cincinnati. Shippers need not fear any delay, as she will go through without trouble. Mr. Grubb, her clerk, is an accomplished officer, and will make travelers at home on the Minneola.

The light draft packet Romeo, Capt. Josh Throop, leaves at 4 p.m. to-day for Cairo and Evansville, and will make all way landings. Josh is a wheel-horse in the trade. Geo. Throop is clerk.

The Will S. Hays will get away tomorrow for Cincinnati. She is a good carrier as well as a passenger packet. Capt. Beasley is master and his brother is secretary.

Rube Haines will be in port with the W. A. Caldwell to-day, and will leave to-morrow for Pine Bluff, where she connects with the Little Rock packets. Jack Chambers is pureer.

We have received a communication in reference to "steamboat stewards," which we will give in our next.

The City of Cairo is the next regular packet in the St. Louis line. She will leave here on Friday next. The Marble City has changed her day and the City of Alton has been withdrawn from the line. She will ply between Cairo and New Orleans.

The superb passenger steamer Mississippi, Capt. Nat S. Green, will back out to-day for the bends, Vicksburg and New Orleans. She will leave here with a fair trip, having several thousand sacks of corn engaged, as well as some cotton. We hope that every cotton shipper in Memphis will remember the Mississippi and throw every dollar they can influence into her drawer. Besides Nat Green, her master, Memphians will find Cook Creighton on this fine steamer. Cook is one of us. He is assisted by John Langlois, a competent clerk. Travelers who love good fare, easy beds and all the comforts of home, will find them here, while Henry Hellery will fix up "suthin" good in his line pure enough for the gods.

The estimated cost of conveying a ton of merchandise a mile on the ocean is from half a cent to one and a half cents, on the lakes two cents, on the river two and three-fourth cents, on the canals two to five cents, and on the railroads from three cents to thirteen and a half cents.

The steamer Irene sunk on the 10th in Red river twenty miles below Shreveport.

There is ice floating in the river at St. Paul, and several of the Northern line packets have laid up.

The St. Louis Democrat says: Complaint is often made by steamboat clerks of the carelessness frequently exhibited by shipping clerks and their associates in connection with their shipments. They say they are put to a great deal of trouble by marks on goods and bills of lading not corresponding, and weights being omitted, and other inattentions, which the shipping clerks would have no trouble in remedying if they choose to do so.

The New Albany Commercial says: The building of dams above and below the falls to improve the depths of water between this city and the foot of the falls, is not regarded with special favor by steamboatmen. It is contended by some that when these dams are completed they will cause slackwater from the lower dam, near the mouth of Falling Run, to the falls, and that this slack water will freeze up in ordinary cold weather and thus suspend navigation at the busiest season of the year. Others contend that the dams will cause the sand to accumulate in vast quantities between the foot of the falls and the lower dam, and ultimately close up the channel. We do not agree with either of these parties. It is not the design to make slack water between the dams. Indeed, we think that the openings in the dams will cause even a stronger current to move than at present. We are satisfied that Gen. Weitzel understands himself. He is an accomplished engineer, and knows exactly what will be the result of the building of the dams. It will be a vast improvement in the river in front of the city.
